

How to use the question cards

Print the front and back sheets double-sided on thick paper, best is 300gsm cardstock, flipping on the long edge on the pages.
A standard home printer works fine.

Cut the cards out, assemble them into decks Past, Present, and Future and read the question out loud and share with others or reflect for yourself. There are no right answers. The blank cards hold space for your own questions that might come up.

If something surfaces that you want to share, the collective archive is open. You can also just browse what others left. Check the archive from the link below:

➤ archive.to-home.org

PAST

Is there a space in your life where you have never fully arrived and did the space have something to do with that?

PAST

Has a space ever made you feel like your body was too much, or not enough?

PAST

What is the earliest memory you have of feeling completely at ease in a space, what made it possible?

PAST

What would it feel like to live somewhere that was designed around your actual rhythms?

PAST

Has your body ever felt at home somewhere your life circumstances told you not to be?

PAST

Which domestic rituals from your childhood do you still perform without questioning?

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

What version of home were you taught to want and whose version was it?

PAST

Whose idea of a good home were you raised inside?

PAST

What did you think home would feel like when you grew up?

PAST

Did the home you grew up in belong to the people living in it and what did that mean for your sense of belonging?

PAST

Was there ever a space you were made to feel you had no right to be in?

PAST

What did your childhood home tell you about your place in the world?

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PAST

TO HOME

PRESENT

Is there a version of yourself that only exists when no one is watching?

PRESENT

What is the thing you do to make a new space feel like yours?

PRESENT

Which object in your current home would you take if you had to leave tomorrow and why?

PRESENT

What does your current space know about you that you haven't told anyone?

PRESENT

Is there a place you return to in your mind when you need to feel settled?

PRESENT

What does it take for a new space to start feeling like yours?

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

PRESENT

Who would you need to tell about a place for it to feel real to you?

PRESENT

What would it mean to feel at home in a relationship rather than in a place?

PRESENT

What is the difference between recreating home and inhabiting it?

PRESENT

Is there a difference between the spaces where you feel permitted to exist and the spaces where you feel you belong?

PRESENT

Is there a difference between what you own and what belongs to you?

PRESENT

If home is a quality of presence rather than a location, what does that free you from and what does it ask of you?

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

PRESENT

Who has the power to make you feel like a guest in your own home and where does that power come from?

FUTURE

What would you allow yourself to do in a space if no one had ever taught you how a home should look?

FUTURE

What is the home you dream of like?

FUTURE

If you could design one room entirely around your own rhythms, what would it make possible?

FUTURE

What would you do differently in a space if no one had ever taught you how a home should look?

FUTURE

Could you imagine feeling at home in more than one place at the same time?

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

FUTURE

Could you have the feeling of home regardless of where you are?

FUTURE

Is there a version of home you are still waiting to find?

FUTURE

What would it mean to share a home with someone on completely equal terms?

FUTURE

What kind of home do you want to be for others?

FUTURE

What would you want your home to say about you without you having to explain it?

FUTURE

What kind of home do you dream of that you've never seen exist?

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

FUTURE

What would you need to finally feel like you've arrived?

FUTURE

What would it mean to have the unconditional right to stay somewhere?

FUTURE

If home were a commons rather than a property, what would you be responsible for?

FUTURE

What would a city feel like if it were designed around belonging rather than ownership?

FUTURE

If you could build the conditions for home from scratch, what would be non-negotiable?

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

PAST

PAST

PRESENT

PRESENT

FUTURE

FUTURE

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME

TO HOME